

Abstract of the Disclosure

A gapped ground safety device is provided to protect workers on de-energized underground distribution cable from ground faults or 5    accidental energization. The device comprises a combination precision gap and an MOV surge arrester.